

NWN Newsletter #15

February 2025

NWN meets nightly at 22:00 Pacific on 3560 Kc

Hello gang,

Trucking right along with a nice mild winter and fairly decent condx for the most part.

CALL	QNI
-------------	------------

NI6A	18
------	----

K6APW	29
-------	----

N0DA	31
------	----

K7EP	4
------	---

W7GB	30
------	----

NG7I	31
------	----

W7IZ	14
------	----

N7KC	31
------	----

WB4SPB	16
--------	----

N7TB	6
------	---

KB7WDP	29
--------	----

WB7WFL	15
--------	----

K6YR	0
------	---

QNI	254
-----	-----

QTC	35
-----	----

The Utah SDR has saved my bacon a few times last month and I'm getting better at integrating it into my workflow. I lurk on RN7/2 (3560 Kc at 21:30) to gauge the condx of the band to see if I'll need it. I've been fooled a few times thinking it'll be needed and then everyone comes BOOMING in over the rig direct! Just never know.. I try to have it going on the laptop just in case, but happy when I don't need it.

Our numbers are better compared to a year ago. We came in at 254/35 vs 228/10 last January. As I recall, we got hammered with poor condx much worse last year though.

If anyone is interested in becoming an NCS, please contact me - Patrick NG7I sbus1313@gmail.com and I'll see about getting you on the schedule. If you want to try it, just ask. The existing guys might just let you have their slot! If it turns out to be too much then we'll take it back no problems.

...

If you're not in the Northwest, just think of NWN as "Net Without a Name" -hi

Best 73,
Patrick NG7I

